We additionally meet the expense of variant types and in addition to type of the books Contrastive Analysis Of Prepositional Errors It's common to see the preposition "of" used alongside helper verbs like "should" or "must.". For example: I should of gone to bed earlier. . However, this is an error. The correct word here isn't even a preposition. Rather, it should be the verb "have," which sounds a bit like "of" when spoken (hence the confusion).
